THE BRIGADE DRESS REGULATIONS

1. Introduction

- 1.1. These regulations supersede any previous regulations.
- 1.2. The Uniform of the CLCGB has changed considerably over the years reflecting the passage of time and the types of activity undertaken. Being a uniformed organisation, by definition, the Brigade has a prescriptive set of uniform rules.
- 1.3. The Brigade presently have three versions of official uniform;
  - Formal (blue uniform)
  - Informal (polo shirts/sweatshirts)
  - Dress (currently the black traditional uniform)
- 1.4. The style of uniform worn within a company and the occasions when different style is worn is the prerogative of the Officer in Command (OIC).
- 1.5. Within a company different sections may wear different styles of uniform but within sections the same style of uniform should be worn unless there are extenuating circumstances.
- 1.6. It is acceptable for different companies and sections to wear differing styles of uniform when on parade together. However, the Parade Commander may request that individual companies adhere to a specific style. This should not however, in any way, prohibit the participation of any members.
- 1.7. All uniform items are available from National Headquarters and should be purchased via the on-line portal.
- 1.8. The interpretation of terms within this document
  - Shall: Mandatory,
  - Should: Deemed to be obligatory
  - Recommended: A generally accepted standard.
  - May: The requirement is optional

3.10. Head-dress

Appropriate head-dress will be worn with the formal and dress uniforms. When wearing head-dress compliments will be made to Officers. Head-dress other than Brigade baseball caps should not be worn with the casual uniform and compliments should not be made. When appearing with the National Band red cap covers can be worn with SMC1

4. Rank Insignia, Badges and Awards

- 4.1. Badges of rank and insignia are described in this dress code. The qualifications for each rank are given in the "Brigade Structure, Roles and Responsibilities Policy". Where badges are awarded as part of a section programme the qualifications for the award of the badges is set out within the Award Scheme documentation 2021.

5. Brigade Medals

- 5.1. Brigade medals will be worn centrally above the right breast pocket (or where a pocket would be on female uniforms). They shall be worn in the following order starting from the right side of the pocket (or where a pocket would be on female uniforms)

- The Brigade Cross
- The Exemplary Service Medal (previously known as Officers' Service Medal)
- The Service Medal
- The Senior Corps Attendance Medal
- The JTC Silver Medal
- Review Medals

5.2. The Brigade Cross

This is the highest award in the Brigade. This may be awarded in recognition of exceptional service to the wider Brigade. The ribbon shall be dark red with a bronze cross.

5.3. The Exemplary Service Medal

This may be awarded to officers for quality of service within a company or battalion normally not less than 15 years. The ribbon shall be light blue with a silver coloured cross.

5.4. The Service Medal

This may be awarded to all ranks for periods of 5 years consecutive membership. The ribbon shall be red, yellow and blue. Bronze medals are awarded for 5 and 10 years, Silver for 15 and 20 years and Gold for 25 and 30 years. For every 5 years after the award of the 30 year medal a Tudor Rose may be added. These shall be worn in a horizontal line above the medal suspender. Service may begin from the fifth birthday.

5.5. The Senior Corps Attendance Medal

Awarded to members of the Senior Corps for exemplary attendance over a Brigade Session. For succeeding exemplary attendance in further years a Tudor Rose may be added to be worn in a horizontal line above the medal for each year of exemplary attendance up to a maximum of five. Bronze coloured Cross, Red, Yellow and Blue ribbon.

In the past very strict guidelines were laid down for the award of the Attendance Medal reflecting a rather different lifestyle than obtains today. Accepting that there will be instances where members of the Senior Corps cannot attend events because of other commitments the award of the Medal should be based upon an individual's overall commitment to the Brigade and his or her performance rather than attendance at specific events. Companies are still at liberty to lay down minimum requirements, such as attendance at weekly parades and Church services, but should ensure that due consideration is given to the quality of attendance as well as the quantity.

Officers in Command should consult with the Company Chaplain and young members of the Company to decide upon the criteria to be adopted in their own Company for the award of the Attendance Medal.

5.6. The JTC Silver Badge (Previously known as the JTC Silver Medal)

The Badge is awarded to the best JTC member in a company judged on his or her overall performance throughout the Brigade Session. Should the same member be awarded the Badge a second time a second Badge will not be issued. The Badge may continue to be worn when the member moves up to the Senior Corps until the rank of Warrant Officer or Officer is attained when it will cease to be worn.

6. Brigade Awards

6.1. The following three special awards are available:

- The Gallant Conduct Award: This may be awarded to any member who makes a deliberate and gallant attempt to save the life of another person.
- The Fortitude Award: This may be awarded to any member who, over a lengthy period, has demonstrated tenacity and much personal courage in the face of adversity.
- The Christian Service Award: This may be awarded to any member who, over a long period, has given outstanding service to the work of the Church and others.

6.2. These Awards are in the form of a star shaped gold wire badge with the designation of the Award embroidered in the centre. They are worn above the right breast pocket (or where a pocket would be on female uniforms). If medals are worn, then they shall be worn above the medal clasp. They shall be worn to the right of the Merit Award and Duke of Edinburgh's Award badges.

6.3. Exemplary Service Award

Awarded to members of the JTC and Senior Corps for exemplary service. Participation, Brigade night attendance and Church attendance should be considered.

In the past very strict guidelines were laid down for the award of the Attendance Medals reflecting a rather different lifestyle than attains today. Accepting that there will be instances where members cannot attend events because of other commitments the Award should be based upon an individual's overall commitment to the Brigade and his or her performance rather than attendance at specific events. Companies are still at liberty to lay down minimum requirements, such as attendance at weekly parades and Church services, but should ensure that due consideration is given to the quality of attendance as well as the quantity.

Officers in Command should consult with the Company Chaplain and young members of the Company to decide upon the criteria to be adopted within their own Company for the Award.

The award shall be worn above the right breast pocket (or where a pocket would be on female uniforms) in the centre. If medals are worn then it shall be worn above the medal clasp.

6.4. Attendance Awards

For the Martins, Y Team and JTC there is a common theme based on cloth badges which are awarded on the basis of one for each session up to a maximum of three. They are worn on the upper left arm above the activity badges. The badges are identical in design being a Blue star on a Yellow background for the Martins, a Yellow star on a Blue background for the Y Team and a Red star on a Blue background for the JTC.

In common with the guidelines laid down for the Exemplary Service Award there are no hard and fast prescribed norms for these Attendance Awards. The individual's own commitment and performance should be the arbiter of the decision to make an award not the enthusiasm of the member's parents especially in the case of the younger members.

Officers in Command should consult with the Company Chaplain and the younger members of the Company to decide upon the criteria to be adopted in their own Company for the award of the Attendance Stars.

6.5. Merit Badges

Merit Badges are awarded to Officers and Warrant Officers and members of the Senior Corps, JTC and Y Team in recognition of their achievements in the sections they have recently graduated from. There are three levels of Award.

Only one level is to be worn above the right breast pocket or in a similar position if there is no pocket and immediately above any medals.

The Martins Award Badge is awarded to Martins members for wear in the Y Team on completion of their membership of the Martins. Recipients should have been regular attendees and completed the badge scheme.

The Bronze Merit is made to Y team members for wear in the JTC on completion of their membership of the Y Team. Recipients should have been regular attendees and completed the badge scheme.

The Silver Merit is made to JTC members for wear in the Senior Corps on completion of their membership of the JTC. Recipients should have been regular attendees and completed the JTC Award scheme at an appropriate level.

The Gold Merit is made to members of the Senior Corps for wear as Officers or Warrant Officers. Recipients should have been regular attendees for at least two years.

6.6. Young Leaders' Badge

Young Leaders will wear a Young Leaders badge on the right upper arm to denote participation in the training programme. Where a band badge is worn the band badge will be directly below it. Young Leaders badges and rank chevrons should not be worn at the same time as rank chevrons should denote that training is either being carried out (Lance Corporal) or completed (Full Corporal). It is up to individual companies whether they wish to denote Young Leaders with the Young Leaders badge or rank chevrons.

6.7. Band Badges

Band members may wear Drum, Bugle or Lyre Badges on the right upper arm. In the centre of the sleeve, half a span (of the wearer) from the shoulder seam. Only one band badge may be worn at any time. Gold Badges will replace Silver Badges.

6.8. First Aid Badges

The Brigade First Aid Badge: A circular badge with a Green Cross on a White background, may be worn 160mm from the bottom of the left sleeve (or 25mm above WO crowns) provided the member has a current certificate provided by an authorised body.

Saint John Ambulance or British Red Cross Badges may be worn as alternatives providing the member has a current certificate issued by those organisations. Only one First Aid badge will be worn at any one time.

6.9. Duke of Edinburgh's Award

DofE cloth or enamel badges may be worn above the right breast pocket or in a similar position if there is no pocket, immediately above medals if worn, and to the left of any Brigade Merit Award.

6.10. Other Nationally Recognised Awards or Badges

Decorations and awards such as the MBE and Mothers' Union badges may be worn immediately above the left-hand breast pocket.

6.11. Historical Group Badge

To be worn centrally above the right breast pocket.

7. Badges of Rank

7.1. Badges of rank shall not be worn by Martins or Y Team members.

7.2. For companies that have adopted the casual uniform and wish to recognise rank there is currently no provision for Officers. NCOs' chevrons mounted in a small circular badge may be worn. These shall be worn on the left arm one hand span (of the wearer) from the shoulder seam.
